

ROCKLAND TRUST DONATES $10,000 TO NEW ENGLAND SINAI HOSPITAL

STOUGHTON, MA (June 2, 2008). Rockland Trust has donated $10,000.00 to New England Sinai Hospital's On the Path to Excellence Campaign, it was announced today. New England Sinai Hospital in Stoughton, Massachusetts is a non-profit long term acute care hospital, regionally recognized as a leader in the field of pulmonary, medically complex and acute rehabilitation care. Funds raised through the campaign will be used to renovate and upgrade the facility and purchase additional pulmonary equipment used in the care of patients. A check for $10,000.00 was presented to Lester P. Schindel, President and CEO of New England Sinai Hospital, at the Stoughton facility on May 21, 2008. A photo is attached below.

“In making this generous gift, Rockland Trust helps Sinai provide outstanding patient care by supporting programs to improve facilities, upgrade technology and purchase the most advanced medical equipment. Families who live and work in the communities we serve will all benefit from their support,” said President and CEO Lester P. Schindel.

“At Rockland Trust, we are committed to strengthening the communities in which we work and live,” stated David Smith, Chief Investment Officer for Rockland Trust, “we are proud to support New England Sinai Hospital in their work with patients with pulmonary, medically complex and acute rehabilitation care needs.”
